

IN A NUTSHELL...

GEAI is pleased to share highlights from the first quarter of 2026, reflecting our continued commitment to advancing girls' education and gender equality through advocacy, partnerships, and community engagement. We began the year by commemorating the International Day of Education with a webinar themed "Safe to Learn: Addressing the Intersection of Violence, Community, and Girls' Education." The session featured insightful contributions from Pastor Deborah Life, Lucky Owoicho, Ndifreke Bassey, and Jamilu Maman, sparking important conversations on creating safer learning environments for girls. Our advocacy efforts were further strengthened through active participation in key stakeholder engagements. GEAI was represented at a 2-day consultation hosted by Education as a Vaccine (EVA) to strengthen youth-led advocacy for adolescents' well-being in Nigeria. We also participated in a policy review meeting convened by Youth Hub Africa to address critical issues affecting adolescents and women, including national priorities and budget allocations. In celebration of International Women's Day, GEAI conducted sensitization activities at HyeI Glory International School in Karomajigi, engaging young people in conversations about gender equality and girls' rights. We also joined forces with partners, including TEC, DO, CWEENS FCT, NAPTIP, UAF, and NWWD, to advance advocacy efforts to recruit men as allies in the fight against gender-based violence. Additionally, GEAI attended the 10th-anniversary celebration of the Stand With A Girl Initiative, which marked a decade of impact and a shared commitment to empowering girls. We remain grateful to our partners and supporters for their continued trust and collaboration as we drive meaningful change.
